Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 11 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Fine and very warm with sunshine.

This Evening and Tonight:
Staying mainly dry during the evening and overnight, although the odd spot of light rain may result from cloud moving through southeast. Gradually becoming a little fresher in the northwest later, but remaining rather warm and humid elsewhere. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
Any remaining early low cloud soon clearing southern coastal districts to leave a generally fine, sunny and very warm day, with light winds. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Fine and very warm or hot in this period, perhaps peaking on Monday, with warm intervening nights expected. Light winds throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.